GSTM is committed to ensuring services and course delivery system are suitable, adequate and effective through continual improvement. Our school will conform to applicable statutory and regulatory requirements without exception. GSTM will take immediate corrective action to control any non-conformity that may arise during the delivery of our services.

Teaching and Learning Strategies

Lecturers will provide guidance and knowledge and choose appropriate instruction methods to the subject matter, learning outcomes, convey the subject matter affectively and involves students in the learner center environment process. The teaching method is focused towards learner centered. There will be continuous Formative assessment during class session, i.e. presentation, group work and Summative assessment will their final assignment submission (group work or individual work).

Reading

Successful completion of the course requires reading regularly and in-depth around the main subject area as well as engaging with academic literature. You will be given reading lists for each module and you should use the materials appropriately. You are recommended to read widely and not just limit yourself to the prescribed textbook. Make use of the resources available in the National Library.

Private Study

Each module requires you to undertake different tasks such as tutorials, presentations, case studies, report writing, etc. Make full use of your private study time to prepare for these tasks, reflect on taught material and assessed work, and prepare for coursework and examination by reading required materials, doing research, etc.

Study Groups

Very often you would be required to work as groups and teams for a piece of written work or presentation. It is important that you acquire skills to work collaboratively in study groups which is a good platform to check understanding of difficult issues or concepts and can be a good morale booster.

Good Time Management

Code of Conduct for Students

Examinations can be a stressful and may lead to some students behaving out of character. While allowances should be made, especially where ill health is concerned, unacceptable behaviour cannot be condoned and must always be reported. In this context, 'behaviour' relates to actions, language, gestures and the written word, but is not limited to:

- Aggression
- Threats
- Discrimination; gender, sexual orientation, race, age, religion, belief, disability etc.
- Indecent or offensive gestures and language

Academic Integrity

Cheating in any form is treated seriously and it is the policy of the school that all cases of suspected cheating in the assessments or examinations are brought to immediate attention of the Examination Board of GSTM. The Board has the authority to deem the student to have failed part or all of the assessments, to determine whether the student is allowed to be reassessed and decide on other appropriate disciplinary actions.

Plagiarism is defined as "to take and use another person's thoughts, writings or inventions as one's own", and in particular copying without acknowledgement. Copying of other students' works is also a form of plagiarism. Plagiarism has occurred when the student:

- a) does not acknowledge the work of another person or persons, or
- b) Has not identified the source or cited quotations in any work presented for assessment, or
- c) Has used images, music, video, patents or other creative materials without acknowledgement of their provenance, or
- d) Has copied another student's work without their knowledge, or
- e) Has submitted the same piece of their own work for assessment and award of credit in two (or more) modules.

If a student's work is found to contain verbatim (or near verbatim) quotation from the work of others without acknowledgement, then plagiarism has been committed. In determining the seriousness of an act of plagiarism, the following factors are usually taken into account:

- the experience of the student;
- cultural considerations;
- the nature and extent of the plagiarism; and
- where evidence is available, the intention of the student to plagiarise.

Fabrication is falsifying or inventing any information, data, or citation; presenting data that were not gathered in accordance with standard guidelines defining the appropriate methods for collecting or generating data and failing to include an accurate account of the method by which the data were gathered or collected.

Obtaining an unfair advantage:

- a) stealing, reproducing, circulating, or otherwise gaining access to examination materials prior to the time authorised by the lecturer;
- b) stealing, destroying, defacing, or concealing library materials with the purpose of depriving others of their use;
- c) unauthorised collaborating on an academic assignment;
- d) retaining, possessing, using, or circulating previously given examination materials, where those materials clearly indicate that they are to be returned to the lecturer at the conclusion of the examination;
- e) intentionally obstructing or interfering with another student's academic work; or
- f) recycling one's own work done in previous classes without obtaining permission from one's current lecturer; or
- g) otherwise undertaking activity with the purpose of creating or obtaining an unfair academic advantage over other students' academic work.

Aiding and abetting academic dishonesty:

- a) providing material, information, or other assistance to another person with knowledge that such aid could be used in any of the violations stated above; or
- b) providing false information in connection with any inquiry regarding academic integrity.

Falsification of records and official documents:

- a) altering documents affecting academic records; forging signatures of authorisation or falsifying information on an official academic document, grade report, letter of permission or any other official School document.

The GSTM will impose serious penalties on students who are found to have violated this policy. The following penalties may be imposed:

- expulsion;
- suspension;
- zero mark/fail grade;
- marking down;
- re-doing/re-submitting of assignments or reports; and
- verbal or written warning.

Student Assessment

Due Process and Student Rights

Students charged with academic dishonesty may not change their registration in a course in which the charge is pending, or a finding of academic dishonesty has been made.

In all cases involving academic dishonesty, the student charged or suspected shall, at a minimum, be accorded the following rights:

- Prompt investigation of all charges of academic dishonesty is to be conducted insofar as possible to prevent public disclosure of the student's identity.
- Reasonable written notice of the facts and evidence underlying the charge of academic dishonesty and academic integrity's principal(s) are said to have been violated.
- Reasonable written notice of the procedure by which the accuracy of the charge will be determined
- Reasonable time, if requested, to prepare a response to the charge.
- A hearing or meeting at which the student involved may be heard and the accuracy of the charge determined by a neutral decision-maker.
- Review of any adverse initial determination, if requested, by an appeals committee to whom the student has access in person. Generally, the implementation of sanctions will be suspended until all appeals made by the student have been exhausted.
- Final review of an unsuccessful appeal, if requested by the student, by the Examination Board.

Levels of Seriousness of Any Allegation of a Breach of Academic Integrity

There are three levels of seriousness (Low, Medium and High) as follow:

- Low level plagiarism is inadequate or incorrect citing, referencing or paraphrasing, arising mainly from a student's limited knowledge about plagiarism, or how to conform to academic conventions, poor writing skills, or from carelessness or neglect rather than intention to cheat. This would most often apply to students in their first study period but can occur with more experienced students as well.
- Medium level plagiarism includes failure to reference or cite adequately arising from negligence or apparent intent to deceive (where adequate knowledge of conventions would have been expected). It may also include copying other students' assignment work, collusion or recycling of previous assignments. This would likely apply to students after the first semester of their course or who have been provided with significant instruction on how to avoid plagiarism.
- High level plagiarism includes copied work, work completed by someone else or purchased work presented with a clear intention to deceive an assessor. This can occur when a significant proportion of the work is copied either from another student or from other sources, or when students have submitted work completed for them by someone else which may or may not be purchased. This would likely apply to students who are experienced or who are expected to understand the principles of academic integrity but may also involve less experienced students who knowingly present copied work or work they have not themselves completed.
